

Career Tech Matters

by Dennis Franks • Dec. 20, 2019

It's hard to believe that the calendar year is coming to a close. The last three weeks have been busy with state tests and semester exams. So it was nice that for the past couple of days students and staff members reaped the rewards of hard work.

In Circleville, students at our Mound Street campus took part in the door-decorating contest. Sports Medicine took home first place with its 3-D Polar Express-themed design.

Also at Mound Street, Allied Health, Sports Medicine and Veterinary Science seniors helped wrap gifts Wednesday for Game Plan.

Game Plan staff members, with the help of the Pickaway-Ross community, become Santa's helpers and provide students in Game Plan with such items as clothes, socks, shoes, stuffed toys and art supplies.

Also Wednesday, Pickaway-Ross students who are employed at the student-run credit union were awarded a $1,000 scholarship from partner Atomic Credit Union. A top senior worker will get $300 and other senior workers will get scholarships ranging from $50 to $200.

On Thursday the annual Ugly Sweater contest took place and Santa found time in his busy schedule to visit our preschoolers.

All in all, it was a fun end to the first half of the school year. Enjoy the winter break and I look forward to more great things at Pickaway-Ross in 2020.
